Google Book Search 搜尋結果

The screenshot shows the Google Book Search homepage. At the top, the browser address bar displays the URL <http://books.google.com/books?hl=zh-TW>. The main heading is the Google logo with the Chinese characters "圖書搜尋" (Book Search) and "BETA" below it. A navigation menu includes links for "所有網頁" (All web pages), "圖片" (Images), "新聞" (News), "網上論壇" (Online forums), and "更多" (More). Below this is a search input field with a "搜尋書籍" (Search books) button. To the right of the search field are links for "進階書籍搜尋" (Advanced book search) and "Google 圖書搜尋說明" (Google Book Search help). The main content area features the text "搜尋書籍全文並發掘新書籍。" (Search book full text and discover new books.) and a link "關於 Google 圖書搜尋 - 給出版者的資訊 - Google 首頁" (About Google Book Search - Information for publishers - Google Home). At the bottom, it says "©2007 Google".

The screenshot shows the Google Books Advanced Search page. At the top, the browser address bar displays the URL: `http://books.google.com/advanced_book_search?q=web+2.0&hl=zh-TW`. The page features the Google logo with '圖書搜尋 BETA' and the title '進階書籍搜尋'. A search bar contains the text 'web 2.0', and a dropdown menu shows '10項結果'. Below the search bar are four radio button options: '包含全部的字詞' (selected), '包含完整的字句', '包含任何一個字詞', and '不包括指定字詞'. The '搜尋:' section includes radio buttons for '所有書籍' (selected), '有限的預覽', '完整檢視', '國學書籍', and '圖書館目錄'. The search criteria section includes fields for '書名', '作者', '出版者', '出版日期', and 'ISBN', each with a description and an example.

CHAPTER 3
Light

THE FUNDAMENTAL MIRACLE of life—the process that makes it all possible—is photosynthesis, that ability of plants to transform the energy in sunlight into stored chemical energy. Aside from a few bacteria and the deep-sea organisms around volcanic vents, all living things on earth depend directly or indirectly on this basic process. Plants photosynthesize by collecting sunlight and channeling it to chloroplasts in leaves and stems—and even roots in the case of many orchids. Through a series of chemical reactions, water molecules are split into oxygen and hydrogen, and the hydrogen combines with carbon obtained from CO₂ to form sugar and, from that, everything else the plant needs. Chlorophyll molecules and photosynthetic enzymes within the chloroplasts operate most efficiently at certain temperatures and light intensities, using mostly the red and blue parts of the visible spectrum. When temperatures and light levels are too low, photosynthesis never really gets going, and when temperatures are too high and light too strong, the reactions speed up so much that sacrifice was deemed necessary. Sometimes the offending one was punished.

If an Apache had allowed his aged parents to suffer for food or shelter, if he had neglected or abused the sick, if he had profaned our religion, or had been unfaithful, he might be banished from the tribe.

The Apaches had no prisons as white men have. Instead of sending their criminals into prison they sent them out of their tribe. These faithless, cruel, lazy, or cowardly members of the tribe were excluded in such a manner that they could not join any other tribe. Neither could they have any protection from our unwritten tribal laws. Frequently these outlaw Indians banded together and committed depredations which were charged against the regular tribe. However, the life of an outlaw Indian was a hard lot, and their bands never became very large; besides, these bands frequently provoked the wrath of the tribe and secured their own destruction.

The contributors to this volume view digital libraries (DLs) from a social as well as technological perspective. They see DLs as sociotechnical systems, networks of technology, information artifacts, and people and practices interacting with the larger world of work and society. As Bruce Schatz observes in his foreword, for a digital library to be useful, the users, the documents, and the information system must be in harmony. The contributors begin by asking how we evaluate DLs--how we can understand them in order to build better DLs--but they move beyond these basic concerns to explore how DLs make a difference in people's lives and their social worlds, and what studying DLs might tell us about information, knowledge, and social and cognitive processes. The chapters, using both empirical and analytical methods, examine the social impact of DLs and also the web of social and material relations in which DLs are embedded; these far-ranging social worlds include such disparate groups as community activists, environmental researchers, middle-school children, and computer system designers. Topics considered include documents and society; the real boundaries of a "library without walls"; the ecologies of digital libraries; usability and evaluation; information and institutional change; transparency as a product of the convergence of social practices and information artifacts; and collaborative knowledge construction in digital libraries.

2. 通常您利用什麼工具找學術性資料？

3. 如果從Google就可以找到學術性資料，
您會優先使用Google還是圖書館網頁？

OCLC 2005年環境掃描

- 84%的用戶使用搜索引擎開始資訊搜索，1%的人從圖書館網頁上開始
- 自從網路的出現，資訊用戶越來越少利用圖書館。大多數對調查做出回應的用戶希望今後他們不再使用圖書館。
- 圖書館應當尋找方法將用戶所需的資料提供給他們，而不是讓人們到圖書館去找

進階書籍搜尋 -> 圖書館目錄

The screenshot shows the Google Books Advanced Search page. The browser address bar displays http://books.google.com/advanced_book_search?hl=zh-TW. The page title is "進階書籍搜尋" (Advanced Book Search). The search criteria are set to "包含全部的字詞" (Include all words). The search results are set to "10 項結果" (10 results). The search button is labeled "Google 搜尋".

The search options are:

- 所有書籍
- 有限的預覽
- 完整檢視
- 國學書籍
- 圖書館目錄

The search criteria are:

- 書名: 顯示書名符合關鍵字的書籍. Input: digital library use. Example: Books and Culture.
- 作者: 搜尋此作者寫的書. Input: (empty). Example: Hamilton Mabie 或 "Hamilton Wright Mabie".
- 出版者: 搜尋由此出版社出版的書籍. Input: (empty). Example: O'Reilly.
- 出版日期: 搜尋這兩個年份之間出版的書籍: Input: (empty) 和 (empty). Example: 1970 和 1972.

摘要

由 Ann Peterson Bishop, Nancy Anita Van House, Barbara Pfeil, Buttenfield 著作
著作人 Bruce Schatz
出版日期 2003
MIT Press
Reference
328 頁
ISBN 0262025442

The contributors to this volume view digital libraries (DLs) from a social as well as technological perspective. They see DLs as sociotechnical systems, networks of technology, information artifacts, and people and practices interacting with the larger world of work and society. As Bruce Schatz observes in his foreword, for a digital library to be useful, the users, the documents, and the information system must be in harmony. The contributors begin by asking how we evaluate DLs--how we can understand them in order to build better DLs--but they move beyond these basic concerns to explore how DLs make a difference in people's lives and their social worlds, and what studying DLs might tell us about information, knowledge, and social and cognitive processes. The chapters, using both empirical and analytical methods, examine the social impact of DLs and also the web of social and material relations in which DLs are embedded; these far-ranging social worlds include such disparate groups as community activists, environmental researchers, middle-school children, and computer system designers. Topics considered include documents and

Greasemonkey 0.7 Candidate

Hello all,

Since there were some pretty major problems with the last release that caused significant grief, I've rethought how releases will work. Going forward, we will:

- Do candidate releases to greasemonkey-dev and greasemonkey-users. Before, we just sent candidates to greasemonkey-dev. If you are interested in cutting edge builds and don't mind getting a little messy in the process, subscribe to one of these lists. This will get more eyes on finding regressions early.
- Once the candidate is vetted on the mailing lists, we will do a candidate release on this blog.
- Only once the candidate is vetted on the mailing lists and the blog will we do an autoupdate.

This release is the first to follow the new process. Please add a comment to this post with any bugs you find. If there are serious regressions I will do a new release here before autoupdating.

There are no new features other than bug fixes for the previous release. In particular:

- Fixed the bug where you can't install scripts if you have never disabled Greasemonkey.
- Fixed the bug where drag and drop in the manage dialog only works once per view.
- Fixed the bug where removing a script in the manage dialog also removes the last script.

About Greasemonkey

Greasemonkey is a Firefox extension that allows you to customize the way webpages look and function.

Hundreds of scripts are already available for free. And if you're the tinkerer sort, you can also write your own.

Allows you to customize the way a webpage displays using small bits of JavaScript.

Hundreds of scripts, for a wide variety of popular sites, are already available at <http://userscripts.org>.

You can write your own scripts, too. Mark Pilgrim's definitive Greasemonkey guide, diveintogreasemonkey.org will show you how.

Works with:

 Firefox: 1.5 - 2.0.0.*

Google Book Search - Peninsula Library System Lookup

Mashup of Google Book Search and the San Francisco Peninsula Library system's book search. Immediately tells you if the book you're paging through on Google Book Search is available in the library. Also adds links to each library's map & hours.

(Updated to handle Google Book Search's new link layout)

The script puts a small yellow box in the corner of your Google Book Search screen. The box includes a book title and a link to the library system's search results. When clicked, the script opens a new tab containing the library's lookup page with the book's location and status. The script also linkifies the library names on this page, to point to the library's street map, hours and phone page.

This GM script acts on 2 completely separate pages. After installing the script, simply goto <http://books.google.com>, search and arrive at a specific book. Screenshot available here: http://blog.medallia.com/2007/04/google_print_l...

Digital Library Use: social practice in design and evaluation

The contributors to this volume view digital libraries (DLs) from a social as well as technological perspective. They see DLs as sociotechnical systems, networks of technology, information artifacts, and people and practices interacting with the larger world of work and society. As Bruce Schatz observes in his foreword, for a digital library to be useful, the users, the documents, and the information system must be in harmony. The contributors begin by asking how we evaluate DLs--how we can understand them in order to build better DLs--but they move beyond these basic concerns to explore how DLs make a difference in people's lives and their social worlds, and what studying DLs might tell us about information, knowledge, and social and cognitive processes. The chapters, using both empirical and analytical methods, examine the social impact of DLs and also the web of social and material relations in which DLs are embedded; these far-ranging social worlds include such disparate groups as community activists, environmental researchers, middle-school children, and computer system designers. Topics considered include documents and

融入方法：與之合作

- 將館藏交由Google掃描
 - Google 已接觸國內某些大學圖書館

如何運用掃描後的全文檔案？

Google合作館的運用情形(1)

- 大部分合作的圖書館尚未確定如何使用*
 - 初步構想：屬於公共領域的資料會在本校自由無障礙地全文訪問，比如鏈接到OPAC中
- OCLC 將會提供這些圖書館由WorldCat連結至數位化的版本

Google合作館的運用情形(2)

- 密西根大學：可以透過其MBooks系統使用Google掃描的資料。
 - MBooks 讓讀者可以在OPAC中做全文檢索，找到圖書並連結至圖書頁面，提供瀏覽、列印、放大、旋轉頁面，並可連結到Google Book Search

The screenshot shows the Mirlyn library catalog interface. At the top, there are navigation links for 'FIND ARTICLES', 'FIND DATABASES', and 'FIND OTHER LIBRARY CATALOGS'. The main header includes the 'Library Catalog of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor and Flint' and the 'Mirlyn' logo. On the right, there are links for 'Login', 'My Account', 'My Shelf', 'My Saved Searches', 'Ask Us', 'Help', and 'Course Reserves'. Below the header, there are tabs for 'Basic Search', 'Advanced Search', 'Command Language', 'Browse', 'Results List', and 'Previous Searches'. The current record is 'Ann Arbor and Flint : FULL RECORD', which is 'Record 2 of 2'. Below the record title, there are links for 'Print/Export/Mail This' and 'Save to My Shelf'. The 'Format' section includes 'Full Record', 'Printer Friendly', 'Named Tags', and 'MARC Tags'. A 'Previous Record' button is also present. The 'How to "Get This"' section provides a table of details for the record.

cept inside opponents' 10-yard line, when a touchback shall be declared.) (Rule 10, b and d.)

3. If ball not in possession is batted forward (Rule 19).

4. In case of tripping, the distance penalty shall be given in addition.

G. If a player who has an opportunity of making a fair catch (Rule 7) is unlawfully obstructed by an opponent who is off-side and thus prevented from catching the ball, or if a player who has heeled a fair catch is thrown to the ground (unless he has advanced beyond his mark) his side shall have the choice of two penalties, viz.:—

1. They may receive 15 yards, in which case they must put the ball in play by a scrimmage; or,

2. They may receive 5 yards, in which case they must put the ball in play by a punt, drop-kick or place-kick.

H. In any case of free-kick (Rule 2, f, and 15, b) if the kicker advances beyond his mark before kicking the ball, no matter whether he then kicks it or not, the opponents shall be allowed to line up 5 yards nearer the kicker's mark, and the kick shall then be made from some point back of the first mark and at the same distance from the side line.

This shall also apply when the side having a free-kick allows the ball to touch the ground (Rule 15, b; Rule 25, b) and then charge of Rotherham, archbishop of York. d As it was to this munificent patron that we owe the d The University Library and the two little schools under the same, where the vice-chancellor and commissary of the University keep weekly their courts, for the administration of justice, (although King Richard the Third and the University gave something towards the same) was finished at the great cost and charges of Thomas Scot, alias Rotheram, who, being born at Rotheram, in Yorkshire, according to the manner of religious persons in old time, assumed the surname of the place where he was born. He was first fellow of King's, Chaplain to King Edward IV., Provost of Beverly, Lord Privy Seal to the same king, Bishop of Rochester, after of Lincoln, and then chosen master of Pembroke Hall, Archbishop of York, Lord Chancellor of England, Secretary to four kings, Chancellor of this University, and Cardinal, titulo St Ceciliae. He finished many great buildings besides this library, as Jesus College at Rotheram, Lincoln College at Oxford, a great part of Whitehall, and divers others. — Harl. MSS.

He gave about 200 volumes to the library, some of which remain with us now: on the covers of three very large folio volumes of Speculum Historiale, printed by Vincentius, in 1473, is pasted a piece of vellum, with this note on each, in the handwriting of the time: " Prima pars" or " secunda et tertia Vincentii in specula naturali ex dono reverendissimi in Christo Patris ac Domini Doming Thomce Dei gratia Ebor Archiepi, anno Domini 14$4.

In September, 1748, during Dr. Paris his vice-chancellorship,
